CLAIRE BOOTY 24, nail technician

JACQUELINE SAYS

'You feel like you're treading water in your job right now and I can see you moving on within six months. You feel like a big fish in a small pond and may want to escape Peterborough. I can see you travelling in about two years. There's a man here called John, close to your dad and very chatty. He's telling me he passed over quickly and he wants to send his love. I also see a new relationship for you – you have yet to meet the love of your life.'

CLAIRE SAYS

'John is my dad's brother. He was as fit as a fiddle then died from asbestos poisoning within a month. I do want to set up my own mobile business and it's great to think it might really happen. But I don't want to leave Peterborough and have no urge to travel. I'm in a long-term relationship, too, and we're buying a house together, so I hope the part about a new man doesn't come true – but then you never know, do you? I think Jacqueline was very good – about 50 per cent of what she told me was spot on.'

SAM CROZIER 21, sales assistant

JACQUELINE SAYS

'Someone close to you has died and you have to let go and move on. In your job, you're forever telling people what to do. You should go back to college and train to be a teacher because you've got a good brain and it'd be the perfect job for you. In love, there's a gentle giant who you'll start to notice soon. By Christmas you'll be smitten. Normally you go for loud blokes, but although this guy is quiet he's not shy, so remember this when you meet him, as he's the one.'

SAM SAYS

'I feel very emotional because a close friend did die in a car crash and I've had trouble coming to terms with my grief. It's true, I do end up organising everyone at work. When I was at school, I wanted to be a PE teacher so it's funny she picked that up. My friend is sure I'm going to end up with this guy we know who's quiet and tall, but he's not my type – funny that Jacqueline mentioned it, though. It was my first reading and I'm impressed. I'd go and have a proper full-length one.'
